

Room Redux

Room Redux is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization that focuses on transforming the rooms of children who have faced sexual and/or physical abuse. It is our mission to develop solid community volunteer groups and to secure donors who are passionate about transforming the rooms and lives of children who deserve a fresh start.

VISION

Our vision is to help children everywhere who have experienced trauma and/or abuse by developing solid volunteer groups and securing donors that are passionate about transforming the rooms of children who deserve a fresh start.

MISSION

The mission of Room Redux is to demonstrate love and compassion free from expectation by partnering with therapists, caregivers, and DFPS to facilitate children's healing from trauma and abuse through room transformations.

TESTIMONIAL

From the mother of a 16-year old girl whose room was transformed in Autumn of 2019. All names have been edited to protect the family's privacy:

“First of all, let me say: Room Redux and their volunteers are angels in human form. They breathed life not only into my daughter's room but also back into her soul. She has been in a very dark place for so long. She hasn't slept well in years - until the first night in her new room. The design was inspiring and the blue and ocean theme above her bed was so very calming to her. Plus the room smelled great! She slept well and has most nights since then. The moment she walked into her room, her eyes lit up like I hadn't seen in quite a while. She smiled big and was awed for hours while she walked around and took everything in. Room Redux tailored her room to her - the unique touches designed to minister to my 16-year old were beyond belief. Their designers didn't just listen but researched and studied what was best. Their resources are endless. Thank you to Room Redux, their donors, and their very special volunteers. Every city in the nation should be so lucky to have Room Redux in their neighborhood.”
